Jerome Camp Nearly Ready For Japs

According to officials of the A. J. Rife Construction Company in charge of construction at the Jerome Japanese Relocation Center work is progressing according to schedule, and the camp is rapidly being made ready to receive the first contingent of Japs. The first Japs are expected to reach this Center about Monday. According to Major Niemz, area army engineer, 37 buildings have been completed at Jerome.

Hundreds of Japanese have already arrived at the Rohwer Center, and additional contingents are expected regularly for the next few weeks
