Biographical Note

Thomas Tapscott Gill, son of George B. Gill and Genevieve Tapscott, was born October 2, 1895, at Searcy, White County, Arkansas. He volunteered for the United States Army on May 8, 1917. He completed training at Fort Logan H. Roots, Arkansas, before serving on various bases during World War I, including a short stint in France from October 28, 1918, to January 4, 1919. He was appointed as Second Lieutenant in the 83rd Field Artillery. He was discharged February 17, 1919, at Camp Knox, Kentucky. He was awarded the Victory Medal for his service in France. In 1923, he graduated from the University of California at Berkeley with a Bachelor of Science degree. In 1941, he wrote a book entitled "Air and Gas Compression." He died February 26, 1947, at Los Angeles, California.
